The married as well as the single gentlemen of Brainerd should make an especial effort to call upon the ladies who keep open house on New Year's Day. Gleason 149 South 6th street.

The Tribune was satisfied when the city discharged the man at the hose house, and considered itself endorsed. It is probably the only paper in a general trade upon the city council for not having a competent man to attend to things in case of a fire, and for the want of which Mr. Brockway's residence was totally destroyed on Tuesday. Had there been a man at the hose house to give the proper alarm in all probability the house would not have been damaged over $50.

The Episcopal entertainment at the opera house Thursday evening was very enjoyable and well patronized. The singing by Mrs. F. W. Farnham, Miss Mulline, Mrs. G. H. Hartley and Miss Hitchcock, Messrs. Alderman, Camp, Hitchcock and Congdon, and the instrumental music by Miss Mabel White was exceptionally fine.

The farce which was presented after the musical part of the entertainment, entitled "The Rough Diamond" was put on the stage in fine shape, and the ladies and gentlemen who took part in it did themselves credit. The tableaux, "The Gypsy Camp" and "The Artists Dream" were very pretty, although there was too much delay in the latter.

Burned Down.

On Tuesday afternoon about two o'clock the fire bell sounded its warning that the fire had gotten its work in on someone's property. The fire was on Tenth street near Ivy and was a story and a half frame dwelling owned by Reuben Brockway. When the hose company and the hook and ladder company arrived the fire had not gained very great headway although the front room upstairs where the fire originated was pretty well filled with flames, but there was no water with which to put out the fire and the building burned to the ground. The fault is laid to not telephone to the engine house for water, while on the other hand it is stated that there was not force enough to throw the water, either case being gross carelessness, and the poor man lost his house in consequence, which might have been saved had there been water for the hose company to use. All the household goods were saved, except what was in the room upstairs where the fire caught, consisting of two beds and a barrel of pork and one of beef. The fire was caused by a defective stove, the bottom of which dropped out on the floor. Mr. Brockway was not at home at the time, being at work across the river. There was no insurance on the house.

Since the above was in type we learn that Chief McMahon did telephone to the engine house, but that there was not force enough to throw the water. The fire department is quite indignant over the discharge of the man at the hose house and resignations are expected.

Luck in Even Numbers.

The silver tea set that has been on exhibition in J. L. Smith's jewelry store for some time and which was disposed of by chance on Wednesday night was drawn by Mrs. H. Thovist, also holding the lucky number which was four. The set is well worth $55, and a fair Christmas present would be hard to select. To say that she was pleased would be putting it mild.

DIED—At her residence in East Brainerd, on Friday morning, Mrs. Kate Webb, aged 53 years. Mrs. Webb had been sick for some time, the disease being dropsy. The funeral was held from the house on Saturday, Rev. N. B. Kelley preaching the funeral sermon.

Christmas at the Churches.

The Congregational people had a very nicely arranged Christmas tree at their church on Juniper street. The church was finely decorated and the tree was laden with presents for all the Sabbath scholars and many of the older people. Everything passed off pleasantly and the little folks enjoyed themselves hugely.

The Baptist folks celebrated Christmas by having a tree and supper for the Sunday school on Friday evening at Cohen's old stand Front street. The supper was free to the scholars, while the others paid 25 cents to satisfy the cravings of the inner man, and the tables were well patronized by judge by the crowd that filled the room from 6 to 11 o'clock.

At the Episcopal church an entertainment was given on Friday evening. The usual festive were indulged in with an elegant Christmas tree for the benefit of the Sabbath school.

Wednesday evening a Christmas tree and entertainment was in progress at the Methodist church. The children all seemed to be enjoying themselves as well as the older people, and many valuable presents were distributed.

A Puff.

The Tribune in its last issue had quite an extended description of its annual, in which the workmanship was praised, and the "get up" of the pamphlet was spoken of as the finest piece of work turned out of that office in some time. The fact is that the home advertisements were the only part of the book that printed here, and the illustrations etc., being executed in an eastern city. The Perham Bulletin has the following notice concerning it in its last issue:

The Brainerd Tribune has mailed us an Almanac for 1885, and for poor make up, manner of display and miserable gross work it takes the whole bakery. Of course the Calendar pages, taken from Ayers Almanac are clean print, but the Tribune's part of the job is a disgrace to any print shop in this great northwest. It might do well enough to send the almanac to some one who had never seen printing, but it won't go down with the printers.

The Sauk Centre Tribune also gives the Tribune job department a complimentary (7) notice as follows:

The Brainerd Tribune has issued an illustrated almanac. It is very creditable to the paper, but some of the printing reflects credit to the "job man" and looks more like the work of amateurs than a regular printing office.

These notices are not published through malice, as it really pains us to reproduce them, but we do so in order to let the public see what competent judges of good work think of the job that was gotten out as a sample of their best work.

Firemen's Dance.

Each member of Brainerd's fire department has received an invitation to attend a party at Little Falls on New Year's Eve. The invitation reads: "Youself and ladies are cordially invited to attend a Fireman's Dance, at the Little Falls, on New Year's Eve, Dec. 31, 1884. Music by Excelsior String Band. Tickets, including supper two dollars."

Little Falls never does things by halves and should any of the boys attend from this place they can depend on a good time.

Mr. Cross Replies.

Mr. Editor: The editor of the Northern western Tribune published in his libelous sheet lies, regarding my connection with the Mays-Burris shooting affair, for which I demanded an apology, which he promised to give in his next issue. The facts in the case were those: At the time the shooting occurred I was not there, and knew nothing about it until some time after it was all over. The warrants were put into my hands for the arrest of the Mays which I immediately did, they giving bonds for their appearance in court the next day. The apology made by the Tribune was not an apology but a libel upon the police force and the mayor. This is but one example among many of his unmanly attacks upon officers and citizens of our city. He seems incapable of anything in his scurrilous sheet but lies and unjust criticism of other men. He knows but little of facts and publishes at random, comments upon the acts of men who in the performance of duty, are not accountable to him or his libelous sheet for any of their privileges or duties.

Northern Pacific Junction.

At Northern Pacific Junction on Wednesday, Officers Ferguson and Flynn arrested two toughs who came to the place that day, and were proceeding to the jail with them, when one of them drew a revolver, but had hardly done so when Officer Flynn knocked him down. The fellow succeeded in firing at him twice, but without effect, when Flynn drew his revolver and shot him through a leg. He managed to escape, but was afterwards arrested at a saloon and taken to the jail without any further trouble. As he is supposed not to be seriously injured no examination of the wound was made to-night. The one in charge of Officer Ferguson attempted a struggle, but was knocked and jailed without further trouble.

The cat of nine lives is once shadowed by a dog owned by City Marshal Flynn, of Northern Pacific Junction. On the 20th of last October Flynn took his dog outside the village limits and shot it twice in the vital parts. The dog ran out of sight and Flynn returned home and proceeded to bank up his house for the winter. On the 7th of December pitious whines were heard under the house, and a hole was made in the banking, in the locality from whence the sound came. Flynn reached in and dragged forth the identical dog he had shot the day he banked his house, the dog having escaped Dr. Tanner and existed nearly two months without food or water. The canine was a shadow of its former self, but with careful nursing is fast recuperating.

Vick's Celebrated Seeds.

For many years the name of James Vick has been familiar to the people of this country. He was among the first of those who have built up here an extensive business as seedsmen and florists. The reputation of the firm for prompt and honest dealing was soon established and all over the land it was soon held to be safe to invest money in the articles offered by James Vick. A few years ago the business was extended so as to include flowering plants, shrubs, bulbs, &c. All varieties of flower and vegetable seeds are sent out as usual by mail and express, all warranted to be as good as can be produced, and new orders for plants and bulbs are filled with the same certainty that the purchasers will receive what they order. The new catalogue for this year is a very attractive. It describes every variety of plant and flower one would wish to cultivate in garden or house. The prices are reasonable. The price of the Floral Guide is 10 cents, which will be remitted to those who give an order for seeds or plants. Address James Vick, Rochester, N. Y.

W. F. Thompson sues the Pioneer Press company for $50,000 damages for libel. The plaintiff was head bookkeeper for Farnham & Lovejoy and was prosecuted by them for embezzlement. That paper in commenting upon the case alluded to him as a "self-confessed robber and would-be safe blower, a miscreant and villain."

The investigation undertaken by Bradstreet's shows that, so far as reported, three hundred and sixteen thousand fewer employees are at work in manufacturing establishments in twenty-one states, containing 90 per cent of the manufacturing employees, that have hitherto been required. It is fair to presume that a more detailed inquiry would reveal near three hundred and fifty thousand as the total; in part due, of course, to customary stoppages at this season. The enforced idleness among lumbermen in the northwest and the North is not included in the totals presented, nor are the reductions among clerks and other employees in mercantile houses in the larger cities.

Wisconsin—Prominent lumbering firms in Wisconsin say that the cut is expected to be about two-thirds of that a year ago. Last year about eighty thousand men were employed, which number, it may be inferred, will be reduced in just that proportion, showing the probable number out of employment.

Minnesota—The single instance in this field where a large number of men have been thrown out of employment by the pressure of the times is the close of the Northwestern Car company, at Stillwater, which went into the hands of a receiver recently. The lumber business of the Northwest is severely depressed. Stillwater lumbermen say that their cut in the woods will be reduced 50 per cent for next year with a proportionate reduction of logging forces this winter. Wages in the woods will be from 10 to 20 per cent lighter than usual. The Minnesota Iron company had their pay roll Nov. 1, at their mine, 500 men. Their force is now not to exceed 400 men and they have made a reduction of wages of all their employees of 20 cents per day. Two large lumber mills, one at Duluth and one at Superior City, Wis., have been idle during the entire season. The Duluth Iron company's blast furnace works have raised but little, a small cut being made in higher-priced labor. Men will go to the woods at a reduction from last year's figures. Investigation at St. Paul develops light reduction of working force in many instances, with an average wage reduction of at least 20 per cent taking all employments. It is thought that there are from 2,500 to 3,000 men out of work. The manufacturing industry of Minneapolis shows little change. The largest estimate of iron workers thrown out of employment, is 200, and this is about the mark.

Wages are reduced about 10 per cent on the average. The lumber mills have all been running, but with reduced crews averaging three-fourths of full number. In wood manufacturing from 400 to 500 men are out of employment. It is considered a safe estimate that 90 per cent of the number of men sent into the woods will be employed this winter. It is intended to reduce the cut from 50 to 75 per cent, and wages will be lowered by 30 per cent. Taking all branches of manufactures there are probably from 3,000 to 4,000 men out of employment. The flouring mills have been running at a profit, and employing more men than at the same time last year, and have made no wage reductions. In the cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul there are more men employed than one year ago.

The examination of John Nordland and John Waisanen, at Duluth, the supposed murderers of J. Farley, at Tower, was held on Saturday. Waisanen pleaded guilty, stating that he went into the shanty with Farley, struck him on the head with a hardwood club, piled some stuff upon him and set the shanty on fire. Nordland pleaded not guilty but admitted that he was present when Waisanen committed the murder, but that the latter gave him $20 of the money after he had got into the woods some distance. They were both committed to the county jail to await trial.

THE LAME-KIN CUR.

Elder Toos has often been alluded to in the proceedings of this club as an individual of serene countenance and sweetest repose. Having to go to the market for a bottle of horse-radish and a quart of beans, he decided not to return home previous to putting in an appearance at the lodge. As a consequence he was on hand half an hour ahead of the usual time, and was left in charge of the hall while the janitor proceeded up the alley to see if any of the store porters had been reckless enough to leave a dry goods box out in the street. The elder filled his pipe and had a smoke and then in a moment of emotional insanity he dropped the red-hot clay into his coat-tail pocket. Combustion and ignition followed, and when the janitor returned the elder was skipping over stools and benches like a boy eight years from a legation of justice. There was a strong smell of smoke and fire, but the elder had no time to relate particulars. He sat down in the water-pail, but it was useless. He rolled over and over on the floor, but the small grew stronger. It was not until a dozen members had come in and chased the old man into a corner and collared him that it was discovered that he was on fire.

When Elder Toos started for home he was a sadder man. He also had an old coffee sack thrown carelessly over the small of his back to give him the appearance of a Roman brigand. The incident was duly announced to Brother Gardner as he came in, and when the meeting opened the old man said: "Let this lesson sink deep into your hearts. Do not cultivate seriousness. Seriousness will waste a much-needed hour of your life. Do not be so afraid of the devil as to keep up wid de pureshun. Avoid absent-mindedness. It may do in a great man, but when it comes down to poor folks like us, it is a credit to the grocer's or butcher's higher than a kite. Avoid sweet repose. Do man who kin shot out this busy world an' de sounds of its machinery at de early hour of seven o'clock in de evening can't hev any money lent out on a chattel mortgage, an' less no ax lyin' aroun' de wood-pile for any one to steal. Lastly, do wood never have any pity on de man who burns off his own coat-tails."

SUGGESTIONS OF VALUE.

To take oil-spots out of mutton, etc., wet the spot with alcohol, rub it with hard soap, and then wash well with cold water.

To remove stains from cups or other articles of tableware or marbled cloths, rub them with saleratus, either with the finger or a piece of linen.

To rid a room of the disagreeable smell of fresh paint, let a pailful of water in which a handful of hay has been placed stand in the room over night.

Coffee pounded in a mortar at a roasted on an iron plate, sugar burned on hot coals, and vinegar boiled with myrrh and sprinkled on the floor and furniture of a sick room, are excellent deodorizers.

If you dip your broom in clean, hot suds once a week, then shake it till it is almost dry, and then hang it up, or brush it with the handle if you can, it will last twice as long as it would without this operation.

To insure paste from molding put into it a proportion of alum and resin. A few drops of the coldest water I can get, the cold water sets it quickly and it will look like a large sponge; then take out of the water and lay it in a sunny place out of doors, leaving it there until white enough to be cut, occasionally turning it over. It bleaches in a short time. Then melt again and mould it into any desired shape. Sometimes I strain it through a cloth at the final melting.—Exchange.

By taking the upper eyelashes between the thumb and finger, and drawing the lid completely over the under lashes, and gently moving it backward and forward, any specks in the eye fasten onto the lower fringe, and remain there after having let go the upper. This is a sure plan, and can be adopted anywhere; but it requires some perseverance to acquire it, and should not be given up if the first attempts are unsuccessful. Any disagreeable feeling about it is not half so painful or dangerous as is occasioned by the smallest speck.

A New Mexican Volcano. The town of Vallecitos, N. M., is situated about twelve miles to the southeast of Jamez Hot Springs, and about three miles to the southwest of Vallecitos is a volcano that is giving the inhabitants of that town much uneasiness. This volcano is burning more or less all the time, and the fresh appearance of lava around it shows clearly that no great period of time has elapsed since the last eruption. The people there say that this is the first time in their experience that the volcano has behaved in such a unruly manner. Frequent shocks of earthquake are felt, and loud rumblings accompanied by gusts of wind from the crater. It is the firm belief of every one in the neighborhood that a fearful eruption is about to take place, and many of the inhabitants of the town are moving up the Valles for safety.—Jamez Guide.

GREAT OLD TREES.

The age of some specimens of the great trees of California is supposed to date back to the time of King David, perhaps to that of Abraham. In one tree which was felled, 1,800 annual circles were counted, without including a great multitude around the heart of the tree, too intermixed to be distinguished. So, perhaps, when "Solomon began to build the house of the Lord which was at Jerusalem, in Mount Moriah," and sent a letter to Hiram, King of Tyre, saying, "Send me cedar woods, fir-trees and alga-trees out of Lebanon," the great trees of California were sturdy saplings. Some, indeed, claim that some monstrous growths are 4,000 or 5,000 years old, so that they were contemporary with the biblical creation.

Eucalyptus trees which have been found in Australia tower to even greater height than the California redwoods. They are native to Australia and the Indian Archipelago, but the grandest specimens exist in North Australia, where there are about ninety different species of the tree. The botanist Miller says that trees of one variety, 450 feet long, have been found lying on the ground, and one 500 feet high is stated to be still standing. This giant would then overshadow the Strasbourg cathedral and the pyramids of Egypt. The eucalyptus has far other interest than that of possibility of immense growth. About three-quarters of the Australian trees are of this genus, and their value is varied.

All of them make splendid timber, both for building and ornamental uses, and several yield valuable medicinal gums. The sap is refreshing and can be made into a pleasant beer; and from the leaves and bark of several species properties have been derived resembling those of the Peruvian bark or cinchona. The kind known as the "blue-gum" or "fever" tree is believed to have remarkable virtues in absorbing the malarious influences of the soil, and to exhalate an odor or influence which tends to prevent fevers of a malarious sort. An attempt has been made to naturalize the eucalyptus in different regions of America, with a view to its sanitary effects, and there seems every probability that the tree, which is fast-growing and hardy, will soon be widely scattered through the country.

The Tribune was satisfied when the city discharged the man at the hose house, and considered itself endorsed. It was now probably content. The general trade upon the city council for not having a competent man to attend to things in case of a fire, and for the want of which Mr. Brockway's residence was totally destroyed on Tuesday. Had there been a man at the hose house to give the proper alarm in all probability the house would not have been damaged over $50.

Burned Down.

On Tuesday afternoon about two o'clock the fire bell sounded with warning that the fire department was being called in on someone's property. The fire was on Tenth street near Ivy and was a story and a half frame dwelling owned by Reuben Brockway. When the hose company arrived the fire had gained very great headway although the front room up stairs where the fire originated was pretty well filled with flames, but there was no water with which to put out the fire and the building burned to the ground. The fault is laid to not telephoning to the engine house for water, while on the other hand it is stated that there was not force enough to throw the water, either case being gross carelessness, and the poor man lost his house in consequence, which might have been saved had there been water for the hose company to use. All the household goods were saved, except what was in the room up stairs where the fire caught, consisting of two beds and a barrel of pork and one of beef. The fire was caused by a defective stove, the bottom of which dropped out on the floor. Mr. Brockway was not at home at the time, being at work across the river. There was no insurance on the house.

Since the above was in type we learn that Chief McMahon did telephone to the engine house, but that there was not force enough to throw the water. The fire department is quite indignant over the discharge of the man at the hose house and resignations are expected.

A pair of those high button kid boots, with tassels on would make the little girl a nice Christmas present. Call and see them at Day & Meagher's.

The silver tea set that has been on exhibition in J. L. Smith's jewelry store for some time and which was disposed of by chance on Wednesday night was drawn by Mrs. H. E. Thevet, she holding the lucky number which was four. The set is well worth $65, and a finer Christmas present would be hard to select. To say that she was pleased would be putting it mild.

DIED—At her residence in East Brainerd, on Friday morning, Mrs. Kate Webb, aged 53 years. Mrs. Webb had been sick for some time, the disease being dropsy. The funeral was held from the house on Saturday, Rev. N. B. Kelly preaching the funeral sermon.

Christmas at the Churches.

The Congregational people had a very nicely arranged Christmas tree at their church on Juniper street. The church was finely decorated and the tree was laden with presents for all the Sabbath scholars and many of the older people. Everything passed off pleasantly and the little folks enjoyed themselves hugely.

The Baptist folks celebrated Christmas by having a tree and supper for the Sunday school on Friday evening at Cohen's old stand front street. The supper was free to the scholars, while the others paid 25 cents to satisfy the cravings of the inner man, and the tables were well patronized to judge by the crowd that filled the room from 6 to 11 o'clock.

At the Episcopal church an entertainment was given on Friday evening. The usual festivities were indulged in with an elegant Christmas tree for the benefit of the Sabbath school.

Wednesday evening a Christmas tree and entertainment was in progress at the Methodist church. The children all seemed to be enjoying themselves as well as the older people, and many valuable presents were distributed.

A handsome fur robe would make a nice present, particularly as it can be bought cheap at Day & Meagher's.

Card of Thanks.

To the several ladies and gentlemen who so generously assisted us in our Christmas Night Entertainment: I wish to extend my sincere thanks to Miss Mulline, for her hearty co-operation with me, toward the success of it, in assuming the management of the musical programme; to Mr. Fernald for so wisely directing our little force; to Mr. Wilson, for assistance everywhere; and to Mrs. Sleeper, for the kindly loan of her piano.

A Puff.

The Tribune in its last issue had quite an extended description of its annual, in which the worst names were praised and the "get up" of the pamphlet was spoken of as the finest piece of work turned out of that office in some time. The fact is that the home advertisements were the only part of the book printed here, the cover and illustrations etc., being executed in an eastern city. The Perham Bulletin has the following notice concerning it in its last issue:

The Brainerd Tribune has mailed us a copy of the Almanac, and we are pleased to say, in manner of display and miserable press work it takes the whole bakery. Of course the Calendar pages, taken from the Almanac are clean print, but the Tribune part of the job is a disgrace to any print shop in this great northwest. It might do well enough to send the almanac to some one who had never seen printing, but it won't go down with the printers.

The Sank Centre Tribune also gives the Tribune job department a compliment, and says as follows:

The Brainerd Tribune has issued an illustrated Almanac. It is very creditable to the paper, but some of the printing reflects discredit to the "job man" who looks more like the work of amateurs than a regular printing office.

These notices are not published through malice, as it really pains us to reproduce them, but we do so in order to let the public see what competent judges of good work think of the job that was gotten out as a sample of their best work.

Firemen's Dance.

Each member of Brainerd's fire department has received an invitation to attend a party at Little Falls on New Year's Eve. The invitation reads:

"Youself and ladies are cordially invited to attend a Fireman's Dance, at the Leland Park, Little Falls, on New Year's Eve, Dec. 31, 1884. Music by Excelsior String Band. Tickets, including supper two dollars."

Little Falls never does things by halves and should any of the boys attend from this place they can depend on a good time.

Mr. Cross Replies.

MR. EDITOR: The editor of the North-western Tribune published in his libelous sheet lies, regarding my connection with the Mays-Burns shooting affair, for which I demand an apology, which he promised to give in his next issue. The facts in the case were these: At the time the shooting occurred I was not there, and knew nothing about it until some time after it was all over. The warrants were put into my hands for the arrest of the Mays which I immediately did, giving bonds for their appearance in court the next day. The apology made by the Tribune was not an apology but a libel upon the police force and the mayor. This is but one example among many of his unmanly attacks upon officers and citizens of our city. He seems incapable of anything in his scurrilous sheet but lies and unjust criticism of other men. He knows but little of facts and publishes at random, comments upon the acts of men who in the performance of duty, are not accountable to him or his libelous sheet for any of their privileges or duties.

Northern Pacific Junction.

At Northern Pacific Junction on Wednesday, Officers Ferguson and Flynn arrested two toughs who came to the place that day, and were proceeding to the jail with them, when one of them drew a revolver, but had hardly done so when Officer Flynn knocked him down. The fellow succeeded in firing at him twice, but without effect, when Flynn drew his revolver and shot him through a leg. He managed to escape, but was afterwards arrested at a saloon and taken to the jail without any further trouble. As he is supposed not to be seriously injured no examination of the wound was made to-night. The one in charge of Officer Ferguson attempted a struggle, but was knocked and jailed without further trouble.

The cat of nine lives is over shadowed by the cat owned by City Marshal Flynn, of Northern Pacific Junction. On the 20th of last October Flynn took his dog outside the village limits and shot it twice in the vital parts. The dog ran out of sight and Flynn returned home and proceeded to bank up his house for the winter. On the 7th of December piteous whines were heard under the house, and a hole was made in the banking, in the locality from whence the sound came. Flynn reached in and dragged forth the identical dog he had shot the day he banked his house, the dog having scooped Dr. Tanner and existed nearly two months without food or water. The canine was a shadow of its former self, but with careful nursing is fast recuperating.

Vick's Celebrated Seeds.

For many years the name of James Vick has been familiar to the people of this country. He was among the first of those who have built up here an extensive business as seedsmen and florists. The reputation of the firm for prompt and honest dealing was soon established and all over the land it was soon held to be safe to invest money in the articles offered by James Vick. A few years ago the business was extended so as to include flowering plants, shrubs, bulbs, &c. All varieties of flower and vegetable seeds are sent out as usual by mail and express, all warranted to be as good as can be produced, and new orders for plants and bulbs are filled with the same certainty that the purchasers will receive what they order. The new catalogue for this year is very attractive. It describes every variety of plant and flower one would wish to cultivate in garden or house. The prices are reasonable. The price of the Floral Guide is 10 cents, which will be remitted to those who give an order for seeds or plants. Address James Vick, Rochester, N. Y.
